THE BRIDE

by

Onoto Watanna.

Now life unfolds before thee;
The past is but a day,
New vistas stretch before thee,
Love lightens all thy way!

Life's sweetest cup brims for thee,
With sunshine, like the May,
And the bride's dreams enthral thee.
Love lightens all thy way!

What e'er the years hold for thee ---
Life's but a little day,
And, dear, what e'er befals thee
Love lightens all thy way!
